

SCHOOL DAZE

Our 6th, 7th & 8th graders participated in a “Battle of the Books”. Eleven books were read over a ten week period. Each class held a competition, and a winning team from each grade then competed against Wittenberg Middle School. Mr. Dennis Federwitz set up a SKYPE system to the 8th grade classroom computer and the two schools were able to see each other on the large screens in the classroom. After 90 questions, the St. Martin 7th grade team won, narrowly beating our 6th and 8th grade team.. The teams were; 6th grade~ Matthew Carpenter, Nate Krueger, Danny Sigl & Maison Purull. 7th grade~Emily Klein, Brandon Hopp, Noah Hartleben, & Jessie Barker. 8th grade~ Tim Jerabek, Chrissy Betz, Nick Hogen & Gabby Goerlinger.

The “Battle” was a great experience for the students, and very competitive. The books were great to read and included: Petey, a book about a boy in the 1930’s who was institutionalized with multiple sclerosis, GENIUS, a book about Albert Einstein, Woodrunner, a book about a boy who lost his parents during the Revolutionary War, and Among the Hidden, a futuristic book about the problems stemming from population control. A special thanks goes to Mrs. Christine Stuffle for setting up the entire “Battle”.
